NOW HIRING

Registered Behavior Technician (RBT)

Social Skills, Gaming & Pop Culture Specialist · Teens & Young Adults

Employer: Raising the Ground

Location: 1717 N IH-35 #220, Round Rock, TX 78664

Pay: $20–$25/hour, about 35 hours/week

Schedule: Sun–Thu or Mon–Fri, 1:00–8:00 PM

Do you love ABA but hate "Baby Shark"? Raising the Ground is a family-owned clinic that works only with teens and young adults (11+). We use Dungeons & Dragons, tabletop and video games, and pop culture to teach executive functioning and social skills.

What you'll do

- Join tabletop, D&D and cooperative video game sessions as a peer model, helping clients take turns, manage frustration and negotiate rules
- Use clips from clients' favorite shows to discuss social cues, motivation and emotional regulation
- Implement individualized behavior plans under BCBA supervision
- Collect data and write session notes in TheraNest

Why join us

- 15 days PTO starting day 1, plus a $150/month health stipend
- Supervision and mentorship if you're pursuing BCaBA or BCBA certification
- No unpaid prep time. We provide the games and materials.
- A small, supportive team where you're heard and respected

Requirements

- Active RBT certification (listed on the BACB registry). We are not accepting RBT trainees at this time.
- Open to learning the games and shows our clients love. You don't have to be a gamer.
- Reliable transportation and ability to pass a background check

Apply on Indeed:
indeed.com/job/rbt-social-skills-gaming-pop-culture-specialist-teens-adults-d1d1734b3173599c
Questions: Michael Ota, Ph.D., BCBA · michaelota@raisingtheground.com